Creating & Advocating for The Arts

artinbartow.com

Art in Bartow is the public art commission for Bartow County, and leads our community in the creation and installation of public art. We have installed more than forty pieces of art including paintings and sculptures in downtown Cartersville, the Library, the Courthouse, the Etowah Indian Mounds, downtown Adairsville, and many other locations.

The Iron Butterfly Trail is one of many projects, but one that was created in direct response to this question, "What will our "bulldog" be?" We immediately understood the community wanted an icon to represent who we are. After much research, we landed with the Iron Butterfly. It takes us from our mining history to our colorful and creative present. These butterflies are built and prepped locally at Steel Materials and each is hand painted by an artist. There is a one time tax deductible donation which covers the entire process from inspiration to install.

Are you ready to sponsor the next butterfly in the Iron Butterfly Trail?
